

Top 10 Ways You Know You Are Growing Up

You can't fit in the baby swing at the park.

You manage to squeeze in your old hiding place but can't get out.

You realize the world does not revolve around you.

You start getting more phone calls than your mom.

Instead of getting up at the crack of dawn on Saturdays to watch cartoons, you sleep until noon.

You tell your mom you're too big to hold her hand in public.

You are trying on thousands of clothes just to go to the skating rink.

You are getting grounded instead of getting "time-out."

You start spending an hour in front of the mirror.

Your friend who is a boy becomes your "boyfriend."
